Membership in Commercial Construction & Renovation People (CCRP) is exclusive to those involved in the commercial construction industry, as well as allied product and service providers. Associate Membership is granted on an individual basis and is not transferable. Company Memberships are transferable to any of three employees from one company to attend any CCRP event. Membership dues are paid annually and must renew before the expiration date. CCRP must be notified of a change of address or employment on any Associate Membership.

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIP

Complimentary

A Professional Membership is granted to an individual employed in the commercial construction industry who qualifies as the end-user and/or has the authority to purchase or act as a buyer of vendor services. This would include individuals employed by a retail, hotel, or restaurant chain and other areas of the commercial construction industry such as schools, healthcare facilities, correctional facilities, municipal and infrastructure development. This would also include employees engaged in any of the following: architecture, construction, corporate management, design, energy/utilities, facilities maintenance, information systems, operations, project management, purchasing, real estate, security or store planning.

A Professional Membership is also granted to students. This would include anyone engaged in attending college and enrolled in an accredited department of architecture, construction, engineering, or interior design. Proof of enrollment and student ID is required and must be submitted with the membership application form.

COMPANY MEMBERSHIP

$750.00

A Company Membership is granted to a business or organization that provides a product or service that derives 50% or more of its total business from the commercial construction industry. This would include architectural firms, design firms, general contractors, marketing and public relations firms, product vendors, property management firms, shopping center owners and developers, store planners and other service providers. A Company Membership is ideal for an organization that would prefer the flexibility of rotating the employees which attend the CCRP events, allowing a maximum of three individuals to be present at each event. Company Membership also includes greater member benefits as outlined on the membership application form. One individual from the company must act as the official representative who will distribute event information to the other employees and who will provide the approved list of attendees for each CCRP event. Please have the official representative complete and submit the company membership application form with full contact information.

ASSOCIATE MEMBERSHIP

An Associate Membership is granted to an individual who is employed by or the owner of a product or service company that derives 50% or more of its total business from the commercial construction industry. This would include: architects, contract designers, general contractors, marketing professionals, product vendors, property managers, shopping center owners/developers, store planners, and other service providers.

Please note: Applications received and approved will be updated in the online membership directory within 72 hours of approval. Commercial Construction & Renovation People (CCRP) memberships do not include an automatic subscription to Commercial Construction & Renovation Magazine. If you would like to enroll for magazine subscription services, please visit our website at www.ccr-mag.com.
